

CONVEY

WE'RE UPGRADING!

When an employer creates records for their employees they are usually stored locally and used for internal purposes. This approach has no long term benefit for employees like yourself which would become apparent if you ever decided to change employers and you have to leave all the evidence of your achievements and contributions behind in those records.

This wasteful approach is now being abandoned by many businesses including ourselves, and we are instead upgrading to 'Conveyable employment records'.

Conveyable employment records are digital files that CONVEY from one employer to the next allowing you to retain a history of your work accomplishments even when you change employers. If your circumstances change (for example you move to a new area or fancy doing something different) you will be able to show those records to other, potential employers which will give you a significant advantage over other applicants especially as the number of businesses now using Conveyable employment records to screen applicants continues to grow.

With CONVEY...You're In Control

All the Conveyable Records created about you are securely stored alongside millions of other records in the CONVEY Databank. Apart from ourselves the only other people that can see them are the ones you allow (for example a potential employer), so although we create the records, only you can say who else gets to see them.

With Conveyable employment records, you are 100% in control of your records.

To learn More Visit: www.CONVEY.bio

A Quantum Leap Forward...

CONVEY

We're upgrading!

When an employer creates records for their employees they are usually stored locally and used for internal purposes. This approach has no long term benefit for employees like yourself which would become apparent if you ever decided to change employers and you have to leave all the evidence of your achievements and contributions behind in those records

With CONVEY You're In Control

This wasteful approach is now being abandoned by many businesses including ourselves, and we are instead upgrading to 'Conveyable employment records'.

Conveyable employment records are digital files that CONVEY from one employer to the next allowing you to retain a history of your work accomplishments even when you change employers. If your circumstances change (for example you move to a new area or fancy doing something different) you will be able to show those records to other, potential employers which will give you a significant advantage over other applicants, especially as the number of businesses now using Conveyable employment records to screen applicants continues to grow

All the Conveyable Records created about you are securely stored alongside millions of other records in the CONVEY Databank. Apart from ourselves the only other people that can see them are the ones you allow (for example a potential employer), so although we create the records, only you can say who else gets to see them.

With Conveyable
employment records,
you are 100% in control
of your records.

To learn More Visit: www.CONVEY.bio

A Quantum Leap Forward...